BLOOMSBURG, PA. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1889.

EDMUND A. BIGLER.

Edmund A. Bigler, the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, was born in Clearfield, in August, 1843. He is the son of Hon. William Bigler, Governor of the State from 1852 to 1855, and United States Senator from 1856 to 1861. Mr. Bigler has always been engaged in business pursuits and never held political office until appointed Collector of Twenty-third Internal Revenue District by President Cleveland, July 1st, 1885. He was removed by President Harrison on May 31st, 1889.

The Democratic nominee for State Treasurer is a man without a stain upon his name. His integrity is a house hold word wherever he is known and his moral and political virtues stand forth prominently as examples for others to follow. The name of Bigler others to follow. The name of Bigler have improvidently gathered into the ought to cause a thrill to stir the hearts of the democracy, especially the older 2. Because Republican officials have 3. Mr. Bigler's father, the Governor. At the time he was Governor of Pennsylvania his brother, John Bigler, was Governor of California. Both were guarter of a million dollars in two years. printers and self-made men, and the years. never better governed or managed than under the administration of the Bigler brothers. Hon. William Bigler the Pennsylvania Governor, and the father of Edmund A., was afterwards United States Senator at a time when

The nominee for State Treasurer has never held any public office, except the one he has just retired from, that of Revenue Collector for the capable and honorable manner. Mr. Bigler is a clear-headed, able man, possessing strong common sense of the highest order. He has been an active Democratic worker for the past twenty years and merits the warmest support of the party. He was a delegate in the convention that nominated General Hancock for President and served as a member of the National committee in market rate, there remained in the Hancock for President and served as a member of the National committee in Treasury over a million dollars in 1884. He is a man in the prime of CASH. life, being but 46 years old.

Let the Democracy of Pennsylvania resolve to elect Mr. Bigler as they did Col. Noyes, "Old Square Timber," some years ago.

Treasury Reform.

ONE UNANSWERABLE REASON WHY ED-MUND A. BIGLER SHOULD BE ELECTED STATE TREASURER.

Letter from ex-Senator H. J. Humes He was pledged by the state convention, and has given his word that he will faithfully execute the provisions of the Act of June 6, 1883. Henry K. Boyer has given no such pledge and his party, now in power, is flagrantly violating that law, both in Spirit and letter by giving "The State Treasury Ring Banks" the interest on public

After the passage of the Act of June 6, 1883, Governor Pattison was of private but of public concern, and obliged to resort to the courts by man-should not be connected with partisan damus to compel the commissioners of politics, and much less be made the the sinking fund to obey the law. The personal and private affair of a fractlaw was treated as a nullity till 1884. But let us hold Gov. Pattison responsible for its execution for three years and rection of a much needed reform, to-five months, and compare that term wit: NON PARTISAN management with the one year and eleven months of the State Treasury. of Gov. Beaver's administration as appears by the State Treasurer's swort

From the passage of the law of June 6, 1883, to December 31, 1886, Gov. Pattison compelled the investment of $4,300,000 U. S. bonds costing $5,305,837. These bonds would have earned by February 1, 1892. when the first state bonds fall due, $1,238,745 interest He also compelled the purchase of $1. 901,500 state bonds costing $2,236,542 saving in interest by February 1, 1892 $609,117, or a total saving of $1,847,-862 by February 1, 1892, when the first state bonds fall due. The total investment by Gov. Pattison in state and U. S. bonds was $7,542,479.

In one year and eleven months Gov-Beaver invested in no U. S. bonds and only $2,967,650 state bonds, costing $2,211,308, thus saving for the state by February 1, 1892, $460,629. But he sold U. S. bonds purchased by Gov. Pattison in December, 1887, and January, 1888, $1,000,000, thus losing for the state by February, 1892, $165,333 in interest. This loss, when deducated from Beaver's gains, leaves a total net gain for Beaver for one year and eleven months of $295,295. That Beaver could have done much better for the state had he not feared the state treasury ring more than he loved the people is clearly proved.

When Gov. Pattison's term expired part. there was eash in the sinking fund-$958,923. By July 31, 1889, Governor Beaver, by refusing to invest in U. S. bonds and in state bonds, to a limited extent, had increased the sinking fund money to $2,716,000. Had Gov. Beament received 23,045 affi mative votes er compelled the investment of this money in state bonds, he would have saved, or the people at least $320,000 Twenty-three towns, were carried for more. But let the people remember the amendment under the local option this $2,716,000 is loaned to the "State law. Eighty-three towns, a gain of of a deposit, and by such banks loaned to the people at .07 to .08 per cent interest, thus enableing such banks to gained seven towns over last year. terest, thus enableing such banks to gained seven towns over last year, the make at least $700,000 out of the summary being: Democratic, 63; Reppeople's money. To recapitulate: Pattison invested, ..... $7,542,476

The Columbian. Beaver who served the bosses for one year and eleven months.

Edmund A. Bigler will serve the people as did Gov. Pattison. Henry K. Boyer will serve the bosses as does Gov. Beaver. Let the people vote for Bigler and serve themselves, or vote for Boyer and make money for the state treasury ring.

Lycoming's Judgeship.

In the Judgeship contest last Saturday afternoon. Judges Mayer, Bucher and Rockefeller on the bench, counsel for Judge Metzger requested the court to make an order that no ballot boxes be opened until the evidence is all in and the Court has decided what votes are illegal; that if the ballot boxes are not feather and the court has decided what votes are illegal; that if the ballot boxes are not feather and the court has decided what votes are illegal; that if the ballot boxes are not feather and the court has decided what votes are illegal; that if the ballot boxes are not feather and the court has decided what votes are illegal; that if the ballot boxes are not found perfectly sealed permission be granted to recall the persons whose votes have been declared illegal for the purpose of compelling them to tell for which candidate they voted. Congressman McCormick, of counsel for the contestants, protested against the order as not only premature but improper. He claimed that the num-bered ballot in the box was the only cerrect way of ascertaining how a man voted. The motion resulted in a lively debate, and the Court allowed the petition to be filed and will act upon it in a future

The Court allowed the contestants three weeks in which to introduce their rebuttal testimony, although it was stated that they would not be able to do so, as the printed testimony could not be obtained in time. It is possible that the rebuttal may be concluded by the end of November.

Treasury Reform.

VIIY REFORM IN THE STATE TREASURY IS NEEDED, AND WHY THE ELECTION of EDMUND A. BIGLER WILL PRO-MOTE IT.

1. Because under Republican rule taxation has largely exceeded the needs failed to use or invest these moneys as the law directs, and the State has lost printers and self-made men, and the two great Commonwealths, the "Key-stone" and the "Golden State," were never better governed or managed state are deposited with favorite banks, corporations and firms, in sums ranging from ten thousand to six hundred thousand dollars, to be used for his private political advantage, and their private gain.

the Senate comprised many of the ablest and most brilliant men in the nation, and served with high credit to half million dollars thus deposited. 5. Because, with more than one mil-lion and a half of uninvested surplus that of Revenue Collector for the Twenty-First afterwards the Nine teenth district, with headquarters at Allegheny and Pittsburg, the daties of which he discharged in the most capable and honorable manner. Mr. Bigler is a clear-headed, able was ceeds to the already swollen Treasury.

6. Because, not counting the proceeds of these Government bonds,

> 7. Because the Republican majority in the Legislature refused to stop this flow into the Sinking Fund when it was shown to be enormously greater than the requirements of said fund. 8. Because the Sinking Fund Com-missioners, to-wit: C. W. Stone, Secreover a million dollars in missioners, to-wit: C. W. Stone, Secretary of State; Thomas McCamant, Auditor General, and W. B. Hart, State Treasurer, are all Republicans; and it would be for the best interests of all the people that the taxpayers, half a million at least in number, who have named Edmund A. Bigler for SENTATION,) in the management of the moneys belonging to all the people. 9. Because the safe-keeping of the public moneys raised by general taxation upon the property of the citizens of all political beliefs, is a matter not ional Boss; and the election of Mr.

A Grand Army Review.

The annual review of the Grand Army posts was held in Sanbury on the 9th. Between 3000 and 4000 veterans were in line, and the greyhaired soldiers, many with empty slee and limping from their honorable es wounds, were cheered along the line. Twenty bands and fifteen drum corps participated in the parade. The city was never before decorated so handsomely. It is estimated that over 1500 people were fed by the ladies alone at their headquarters in the old Lutheran | Chickering, Church.

Governor James A. Beaver, Hon. Charles W. Stone, secretary of the Commonwealth, and Thomas J. Stewart and staff were present.

In the evening a camp-fire was held in the courthouse. Addresses were made dy Governor Beaver, Commander Stewart and William C. Farnsworth of Sunbury. Many were turned from the doors unable to gain admission. It is estimated that from 8000 to 10,-000 strangers were in Sunbury. Nearly all the sorrounding towns and citles within a radius of seventy-five miles were represented by Grand Army posts. Next year's meeting and review will be held at Shenandoah. Ent Post and Gilmores Band took
